

APPENDIX – CLAIM LISTING

51. (Original): A method of providing Internet content to a user of a computing device, comprising:

receiving a request from a computing device;

in response to the request, retrieving information comprising:

instructions usable by the computing device to present a frame, with associated controls, specifically designed to display certain web content outside of a window of a web browser program; and an address from which said certain web content may be retrieved; and transmitting the information to the computing device.

52. (Original): The method of claim 51, wherein at least a portion of the information further comprises instructions for invoking a first process, resident on said computing device when invoked, the results of which being capable of display within the frame.

53. (Original): The method of claim 51, wherein at least a portion of the information defines a functionality and an appearance of the frame within which said certain web content may be presented.

54. (Original): The method of claim 51, wherein the frame is one of a family of such frames, the family having certain common features and certain unique features, and the information further comprises those features unique to the frame.

55. (Original): The method of claim 54, wherein the information further comprises instructions for creating an instance of the common features within and associated with the frame.

56. (Original): The method of claim 54, wherein each member of the family of such frames has associated therewith certain functionality, and wherein the information further comprises instructions usable by the computing device to invoke a second process capable of coordinating the functionality of the frames.
